Scout Surge 9/11

What: Scouts and non-Scouts together at 8:46_{A.M.} to show respect for those who died on September 11, 2001

Who: Scouts, Cub Scouts, Scouters and Non-Scouts

Where: Stark County Veterans Memorial across the street from the Scout Service Center

When: Arrive at 8:30_{A.M.} at the Scout Service Center parking lot

Scout Leaders: Please bring your Scouts, Scouters and families to stand up for those we lost on 9/11. We will stand for a moment of silence, recite the Pledge of Allegiance and then visit the Veterans Memorial. This will be a great opportunity to teach patriotism. Scouts and leaders will dismiss themselves at the conclusion of the visit.

Leave No Trace

Trainer Training

September 17 – 19, 2010

Sponsored By

Great Trail Council, BSA

Why Leave No Trace?

Today, use of designated wildness areas has increased from 4 million people in 1964, to 7 million in 1974, to 15 million in 1984, 21 million in 1994 and over 30 million in 2004. That is a 750 percent increase in 30 years. As cities grow and populations encroach upon wildlands and recreation areas, we must do more than just pick up the litter and extinguish campfires. We must learn how to maintain the integrity and character of the outdoors for all living things. Leave No Trace is not simply a program for visiting the backcountry; it is an attitude and a way of life.

Leave No Trace Trainers

The purpose of Leave No Trace Trainers is to promote and teach the principles of this program. America's wild lands are diverse and beautiful, they also can be fragile. As a trainer you will instill values and ethics to all that will listen to you, most important of all, is that they learn that it is our duty, privilege, and honor to care for the land and wildlife that lives there. This respect, coupled with good judgment and awareness, will help protect our wild lands for years to come. The more trainers we have in our council teaching Leave No Trace to their units and in their districts will make our scouts better prepared to go camping in the wild lands of America. Leave No Trace Trainers put on awareness classes, these classes are as varied as the trainers putting the course on, but all teach the same principles. If you value our wild lands, parks, forest, wildlife, and other natural resources, come let us help you become a Leave No Trace Trainer. The cost is kept as low as possible, but the value you will receive in turn from handouts to information will be invaluable to you.

Junior Leader Job Description for Den Chief

INTRODUCTION: When you accepted the position of Den Chief, you agreed to provide service and leadership in our Troop and assigned Cub Scout den. This responsibility should be fun and rewarding this job description provides some of the things you are expected to do while serving as a Junior Leader. You should make notes on this sheet as you participate in an introduction to leadership conference with an adult Troop Leader. Your Den Leader or Cubmaster will provide additional guidelines for your job.

RESPONSIBLE TO: Assistant Scoutmaster-New Scout Patrol

SPECIFIC DUTIES:

Serve as the activities assistant at den meetings.

Meet regularly with the Den Leader to review the den and pack meeting plans.

If serving as a Webelos Den Chief, prepare boys to join Boy Scouting.

Project a positive image of Boy Scouting.

Set a good example.

Wear the uniform correctly.

Live by the Scout Oath and Law

RESOURCES: As a den chief, there are many resources available to you to help you do your job These include people such as your Scoutmaster, assistant Scoutmasters, and Troop Committee members, as well as the Cubmaster and Den Leader. There also are your fellow Troop Junior Leaders, Teachers, Religious Advisers, and Community Leaders. Some literature items that can help you follow:

Boy Scout Handbook, No. 3229

Den Chief Handbook, No. 3211 A

Junior Leader Handbook, No. 3500

Fieldbook, No. 3200

Boys' Life

Copy of Troop rules and policies

Activity calendars (Troop, District, School)

BSA equipment catalog

DEN CHIEF PLEDGE

I promise to help the Cub Scouts (or Webelos Scouts) in my Den to the best of my ability; to encourage, guide, and protect them in all Den and Pack activities; and to show them by my example what a Boy Scout is.

I will strive to be prompt and dependable, and cooperate with the leaders in carrying out the Den program.

As each Cub Scout completes the third grade, I will encourage him to join a Webelos Den.

As he becomes eligible, I will ~ all in my power to interest him in becoming a Boy Scout.

Den Chief Induction

PERSONNEL

Cubmaster, den chief, den leader.

EQUIPMENT

Den chief shoulder cord and patch.

Cubmaster: Cub Scouts and friends of Pack [number], we wish to recognize a new leader who will serve as a den chief in one of our dens. (Calls forward the new den chief and his den leader.) Before the den chief cord is placed on your shoulder, I ask you to pledge your support. Do you promise to help the Cub Scouts in your den to the best of your ability, to encourage, guide, and protect them in all den and pack activities, and show them, by your example, what a Boy Scout can be?

Den Chief: I do.

Cubmaster: Will you strive to be prompt and dependable, and to cooperate with the leaders in carrying out the den program?

Den Chief: I will.

Cubmaster: As each Webelos Scout becomes eligible, will you do all in your power to interest him in becoming a Boy Scout?

Den Chief: I will.

Cubmaster: Den leader, please place the cord on your den chiefs left shoulder and present his patch to him. Although this cord has little weight, the job it stands for places a large weight upon his shoulders. This cord also serves to recognize him as an officer in his troop.

Now, we of Pack [number], in recognition of your high office and important service, wish to welcome you and say congratulations.

Den Chief Appreciation

PERSONNEL

Cubmaster, den chiefs.

EQUIPMENT

Appreciation certificate for each den chief.

Two 4-foot lengths of blue and gold cord can be used to dramatize the den chief's induction. See "Den Chief Recognition."

Submaster: Cub Scouting is different than Boy Scouting. Like Boy Scouting, it has its games, crafts, advancements, and goodwill projects. The difference is in the type of activities that younger boys like to do. The person who knows these activities best is one who has been a Cub Scout.

It is the job of the den chief to help lead den activities that will help younger boys to be good Cub Scouts and Webelos Scouts and eventually, good Boy Scouts, Varsity Scouts, and Explorers. Den chiefs set a good example by being both a leader and a friend. Tonight we would like to recognize those who serve our pack a den chiefs.

(Calls names and den numbers of all den chiefs.)

We would like to ask that you re-pledge yourself to your responsibility as den chief. Please repeat the Den Chief Pledge after me:

I promise to help the Cub Scouts in my den To the best of my ability,
To encourage, guide, and protect them In all den and pack activities,
And to show them by my example what a Boy Scout is.
I will strive to be prompt and dependable,
And to cooperate with the leaders
In carrying out the den program.

As each Cub Scout completes the third grade,
I will encourage him to join a Webelos den.
As he becomes eligible
I will do all in my power to
Interest him in becoming a Boy Scout.

(Presents each den chief with an appreciation certificate)

Den Chief Recognition

After a new den chief has been appointed and inducted (in his troop), this ceremony may be used to recognize him in the pack.

PERSONNEL

Akela (Cubmaster), a Cub Scout, new den chief, an older den chief, den leader.

EQUIPMENT

Two 4-foot lengths of cord: one blue, one yellow, table, copy of Den Chief Handbook.

ARRANGEMENT

On Akela's right stands the Cub Scout holding the blue cord; on his left, the older den chief holds the yellow cord. The Den Chief Handbook is on the table.

Akela: Cub Scouts and friends of Pack [number], we wish to recognize a new leader who will serve as den chief of Den [number].

(Reads from a scroll, if necessary.)

I, Akela, chief of the Webelos tribe, pondered long into the night who should lead the young Cub Scouts of our pack. An important council was held with the Scoutmaster, chief of our older brothers, to choose this important leader. Now, we call to our council the chosen one, Scout [name] of Troop [number]. (Points to blue cord.) This blue totem represents the Cub Scout pack with all its Cub Scouts, leaders, and parents - also the Cub Scout Promise and Law of the Pack. This gold totem (points to yellow cord) represents the Scout troop, its leaders, the Scout Oath and Law.

You will notice the cords are made up of many strands, representing all the boys in the troop and pack. Let us bind together these cords into a bond of friendship. (The Cub Scout and the older den chief grasp either end of the two cords and twist in opposite directions.) You now see these symbols become the totem of the den chiefs office. This is known as the den chiefs cord. You will notice that our new den chief is wearing this shoulder cord encircling his left sleeve. This badge of office was presented to him in his troop in recognition of his new position as an officer of his troop. (To new den chief.) And now we of Pack [number], in recognition of your high office and the important service you will be rendering your troop and your pack, want to present to you this Den Chief Handbook in the presence of your new friends. (Hands book to him and gives Cub Scout handshake.)

When Akela was a boy, he was taken on trips by his chief to learn the ways of the braves to prepare him for the day when he would become a chief. You have now become a chief in Akela's pack. Lead the younger ones that they shall become mighty hunters and honorable Webelos Scouts. Your den leader will be with you to lead the Cub Scouts of your den along the Cub Scout trail. Den Leader [name], will you stand by your new den chief as we give him the grand howl of welcome. (Den gives him the grand howl and all return to places. The new den chief sits with the den.)

Den Chief Service Award Ceremony

PERSONNEL

Cubmaster, den chief receiving award, Scoutmaster, den leaders, and Cub Scouts from den chiefs den, assistant Cubmaster.

EQUIPMENT

Service award cord.

ARRANGEMENT

The Cubmaster, Scoutmaster, den leaders, and Cub Scouts are arranged in a semicircle with the den chief in its center in front of the room. The assistant Cubmaster narrates.

Assistant Cubmaster: Would the following people please come forward and form a semicircle: our den chiefs Scoutmaster [name] from Troop [number], our Cubmaster [name], den chief, den leaders, and all the Cub Scouts from Den [number]. Den Chief [name], would you please stand in the center of the semicircle.

(After everyone is in place.) The den chief service award recognizes den chiefs who lead and serve their dens for at least 1 year. This award emphasizes your key role within Boy Scouting and compliments you for your important service. It is you, the den chief, who brings the fun of Boy Scouting to Cub Scouts and who brings eager Webelos Scouts into your troop.

You have helped the Cub Scouts in your den to the best of your ability.

You have encouraged, guided, and protected them in all den and pack activities.

You have shown them by example what a Boy Scout can be. You have been prompt and dependable and have cooperated with your leaders in carrying out the den program. We of Pack [number] thank and congratulate you for your part in making us the best in the [name] Council.

Scoutmaster [name], do you wish to make any comments at this time? (He does so.)

Cubmaster [name], do you have any further comments? (He makes his comments.)

Leaders of Den [number], do you have anything to add? (If they do, they speak now.)

Cub Scouts from Den [number], would any of you like to say anything now?

[Name], at this time we would like your den leader, [name], to place on your left shoulder your new service award cord. (After the cord is in place) Cub Scouts of Den [number], you may now congratulate your den chief.
